ering for parties cannot be disputed, presented the owing resolutions, as chairman of the business com-

Mr. Deaxiso withdrew that resolution, and the others were satopted unanimously.

Mr. Reinax moved the following resolution, which was manimously adopted:—
Resolved. That we cannot recommend too strongly to our young men and young women to engage in business pursuits, or individual enterprise, wherever and whenever they can command the necessary capital or credit; and those who are nequalinted with any mechanical branches, too make sacrifices of personal comfort to enable them to commence and sustain a business in their several trades, relying upon their own exertions, and depending for their support upon their ability to produce work equal to others, and upon their own ingenuity to sustain a business reputation.

The following resolution was then adopted:—

The business committee would report favorably upon profits.

Dr. McCyn Smyller lave been reading a passage today in the good book, which says, "No man liveth to himself."

Mr. Powers—I would inquire if that is the gentleman's favorite book? (Remewd laughter.)

Dr. Ssurn then stated that he had received a letter from a colored man who is a shoomaker, who goes to bed and rises daily in sight of the awful rock, 5,000 feet high. He and nother colored man were elected to offices in the gift of the people.

Mr. Puysan.—But what kind of offices are they?

Dr. McCyns.—But what kind of offices are they?

Dr. McCyns.—But what kind of offices are they?

Dr. McCyns.—But what kind of offices are they?

Dr. McCyns.—The letter does not state. They may be constables or commissioners of roads. But the important principle is established that two colored men have been elected by the people. It is true that we do not find anything of what Mr. Downing objects to in Sully's book on Protective Unions. But then that book is not like the constitution of the United States, which no one can attempt to impugn or improve upon without being sunk to the lowest depths of infamy. Dr. S. then related a case of a colored man who went into the country and with the aid of a herole wife, cleared land, and was now in a fair way to independence. It was better, therefore, to put their hands in their pockets and give $2 to those who were disposed to go out to the Gerrit Smith lands, instead of nestling and crowding each other. P. Smith concluded by reading from a letter dated North Pha, a glossing necount of the district around the great rock.

Mr. Thourson, the Secretary, said he thought at first the report was aristocratic, but he was now in favor of it is it stood.

Mr. Jacose, who wore an exquisite moustache, and said he was from the country, he said if there was any stringly and the too hands of the propert was aristocratic, but he was now in favor of it is it stood.

Mr. Jacose, who wore an exquisite moustache, and said he was from the country, he said if there was any stringly and the profit of Mr. Bowense withdrew his resolution to strike out, as time was not allowed to discuss it.

It was then moved that the report be adopted as it stands.

Mr. Powers raid the reason why he was in favor of adopting the report was, that the gentleman from the country (Mr. Jackson) had a very beautiful moustache. (Rears of laughter.) They all wanted to go to the country where people thrived so well.

Mr. Vinata, said, since Mr. Downing had withdrawn his motion to drike out, he preposed that the two-thirds of profit, after seven per cent interest being realised, be appropriated, not to the settlers on the Gerrit Smith lands, but for the purpose of establishing a loaning flund, to loan out money on bond and mortgage on real estate.

Mr. Downson, the elder famed for his oysters of every variety, went for the preposition of the last speaker, because it went for making money. This was the only plan, unless they turned Dutchmen, and joined the Dutch societies, for it was a fact that the Dutch had rooted out Irish. English, and Americans from every corner store, and if there was any good place in the middle of the bleck, they took possession of that too. For his part, he did not believe that people ever grew rich by hard work. The plan was to purchase real estate in a city where its value was increasing so rapidly. In a very short time the city would extend beyond Harlem on this island, and beyond Jannaica, on Long Island. They would get twenty-seen perfect for their investment in less than ten years. Mr. Groner T. Downses—I am in love with the proposition of Mr. Vidall. There is now a rational prospect of our acting like men—like other men. The settlers on the Gerrit Smith lands may have our money in loan, by aying interest for it, and giving us at ien on the land. When you are in the field for charity, I am also with you. But I do not want to see those two things confounded. Perhaps it might be uncharitable to say that the object of the chief advocates of voting away the swell mind the sum of the lands they posses in those out them. Peopleswarm here from Europe with no other idea than that of making money, and the tendency of this desire is by no means to good. The question ought not to be—how much money they cass make? but, how much good they can do? I don't want a bank like the banks of Wall street; but an organization to save and economies the money we sirendy possess. I saw entirely opposed to giving loans to farmers. It is this mortgage system that keeps them poor, and ultimately hike them. Mr. Downing evidently thought he had made a discovery, when he intimated that the leaders in the movement had a selfsh object in view in endeavoring to get their land improved. Why. Mr. Downing owns more land in those counties than I do. He owns two handred acres, and I own but a hundred and eighty. There are no grants in Oneida county to eitizens of New York.

Mr. MASHLEON—I stated, on the last night of meeting, that there was a rock 5000 feet high.

Dr. McCens Smrim—The lands are twenty miles from the reck.

Mr. HAMBLEON—I am in favor of the proposition of Dr. Smith, for I think when s man goes to Hamilton county to settle he will want all the money he can get. (Laughter.) I was once there upon an exploring expedition, and we had a modern Cecrops with us, who took god care to bring us back by a different route from that by which we entered the wilderness. I bade a sad farewell to it, never expecting to see it again. My advice is, first, get your money, and then establish your grocery. You are now foolishly discussing a plan to give money when you have none to give. Your acts will not be binding on the subscribers.

REC Ms. RAY—I am-puzzled to know which side of the argument to take. I am reminded of the return the Art Union folks gave us for our money. It was from the brush of Themas Cole—a picture of youth in a little boat, on a beautiful river, stretching forward with hopes to a castle in the air that lay before him. I believe we are, after all, fighting a castle in the air. The time is fast approaching when four-offiths of the land g was to make money, he would go neck and heels, and every other memberment of his body, for a resolution of that kind. (Roars of laughter.) But such was not the case.

The motion of Mr. Videll was lost, and the report was then adopted as it stood.

Dr. McCyre Smrin then announced that the directors of the prejected bank would meet on Thursday evening next, in the church of the Messiah, in Wooster street, near Prince.

Upon the motion of Mr. G. T. Downing, the Policy Gambling report was adopted, without discussion.

Mr. Downing then moved that the committee be instructed to have an appeal on the subject drawn up for general distribution.

Mr. Hamilton suggested that the convention should petition the Legislature at Albany to take the bill for the suppression of gambling, off the table of the Senate, and pass it at once.

Mr. Grigor—Ah, the Bull will not let them. [Laughter.] Mr. Hamilton then proceeded to read the bill.

Mr. Grigor—Where do you get it from?

Mr. Hamilton—From the Weekly Herald of Saturday last. And here permit me to call your attention to the law hypocrisy of the Tribune, which attempts to wipe away the stigma because the party upon whom it is fixed is whig. Mr. Hamilton having concluded the reading of several sections, said that bill would sweep away every gambling house and pelicy office in the city. He moved that a petition be sent to the Legislature on the subject.

Mr. Downing, Jr.—There are laws already on the subject and if you pile up laws as high as heaven, they will get over them.

Mr. Hamilton—And if you pile up tracts higher than heaven, they will get over them. (Laughter.)

Both resolutions were then adopted.

Brand or Steravisous.—The Last Marting of the Old Board.—On Monday afternoon the Board of Supervisors held their last merting, their torm of office expiring this day. The hear appointed was two o'clock, but it was after three when they proceeded to business, at which time all the members, except Mr. Waterman, were present. Mr. John G. Bergen in the chair. The business brought before them consisted chiefly in receiving reports from the committee of accounts, and ordering payment of bills. The account of the year's payments was ordered to be printed and published. The keeper of the cells made a report by which he showed that the number of persons committed since the lst July, 1850, to date, was 148, viz.: 101 males and 47 females. The number discharged in the same period was 141—93 males and 48 females. Average number confined within the same period, 53. The expenses from the 10th October to date were $1.363 31. Col. Crooke, on the conclusion of the business moved a vote of thanks to the chairman for his services during the past year, and Dr. Berry seconded it in a very complimentary though brief speech. A vote of thanks to Mr. Bulkeley, clerk to the Board, was also carried, for the efficient services he had rendered them; and the Board then adjourned sine die. The election for their successors in the county towns will take place this day; and we have every reason to believe that the Brooklyn aldermen of the second class will take place this day; and we have every reason to believe that the Brooklyn aldermen of the second class will take their seats with the new members without further opposition.

The Wheeling Bridge Case.—The report of Chancellor Walworth, in the Wheeling bridge case, is adverse to that structure, unless it is raised sufficiently to allow steamboats, with smoke pipes eighty-five feet high, to pass under it when the water is at its highest point. The bridge is only sixty-two feet above high water, which will render navigation to the largest class boats impossible. It is probable the bridge will be at once raised, as it has already been demonstrated that it is valuable stock.
